

Short Bio

George Y. Kohler is associate professor for modern Jewish philosophy and director of the Joseph Carlebach Institute at Bar Ilan University in Ramat Gan, Israel. His research focuses on modern Jewish thought and theology with a special interest in the Wissenschaft des Judentums. He has published on the reception of Maimonides in the 19th century and on the Wissenschaft-scholars' research of Jewish Mysticism and Kabbalah. His most recent publications include a volume called "Modern Jewish Theology (1830-1930)" a collection of German-Jewish theological texts, translated for the first time into English, and the Collected Writings of Steven S. Schwarzschild (in 3 volumes).